

The Palucca University of Dance Dresden is looking for a

Classical Ballet Teacher

to join its team starting in winter semester 2021/2022. The full-time position will be initially for a two-year duration. The employment conditions are stipulated in the Fixed Term Research Contracts Act (Wissenschaftszeitvertragsgesetz - WissZeitVG); the opening is remunerated according to salary group E 13 TV-L subject to the respective qualification of the candidate.

The candidate will enhance and support the university's teaching faculty in accordance with the mission and profile of Palucca University of Dance Dresden. Duties include teaching ballet to students of all age groups (women and men) of the Dance Training Programmes and teaching ballet methodology/didactics to the students of the university's Master Dance Teacher Programme. Furthermore, the candidate will be responsible for rehearsing classical and contemporary repertoire.

We are looking for a candidate who has had both a professional dance career and brings several years of teaching/pedagogical experience. Ideally, the candidate will have a university/academic degree and/or specific artistic achievements and will be familiar with study organisation and the related administrative work.

Palucca University of Dance Dresden is striving for a high proportion of women in teaching. Qualified female candidates are therefore expressly invited to apply. Severely disabled applicants will be given preference if they are equally qualified.

Please send your complete application files (incl. description of your artistic career, teaching experience/list of teaching activities and proof of highest completed academic/university degree or highest completed level of education/training) by March 01, 2021 - preferably by email - to personal@palucca.eu or by post/mail to
